Class Will

WE THE SENIOR CLASS OF 1950, JOHNSTON CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL, POLK COUNTY, IOWA MAKE THE FOLLOWING AS OUR LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT:

Not because they have earned them, but because there isn't any place else for them to sit, we suggest that the Seniors of 1951 be given our seats on the west side of the assembly. We, the Seniors of 1950, do will and bequeath our unparalleled scholastic ability, unequaled journalistic skill, unmatched athletic achievements to our successors.

To the carefree students who follow us, we extend our fondest regards and heartfelt sympathies. To the teachers we leave our admiration and a medal to each for bravery above and beyond the line of duty. To the halls of the Alma Mater we bequeath the echoes of our jubilant voices and the nostalgic memories of our enthusiasm and amiability.

Donna A. Wills her six engagement rings and Cadillac convertible to Norma B.

Tubby Gilbert wills his "technique" and black book to Don Rose.

Jack Hauser wills his mendacity to Bill Thornburg.

Richard Hyde leaves the remnants of his worn-out sayings (for cryin' tears, you schmoo, etc.) to David Schuessler.

LaVerna Kirkpatrick leaves her varied activities to Jackie Leonard.

Mary LaMar wills her sociability to Sue Bilz.

Joan Lutz leaves her garrulousness to Betty Sue House.

Patricia McCoy wills her temper to Alice Jo Ash.

Carol Rittgers wills her worn-out brain to Sally S., and the 72 wads of gum under her desk to Dot Crowell.

Norma Ross leaves her "way" with referees to Donella Crowell, and her cooking ability to Nancy Hummel.

Jack R. leaves his parking place in the balcony overlooking the gym to Phil M.

E.M. Schuessler leaves his Beagles to Mr. Howards.

Vernon Schuessler leaves his football running ability to Fred Smith.

Russell Slauson wills his flirting ability to Jim VrMeer.

Dick Stuck leaves his musical talent to Jimmy Anderson.

Dick T. wills his sweaty, unwashed basketball togs to Gary Orlich.

Charlotte Temple wills her good deportment to Connie Andrews.

Johnnie White wills his meanness to Richard Howley.

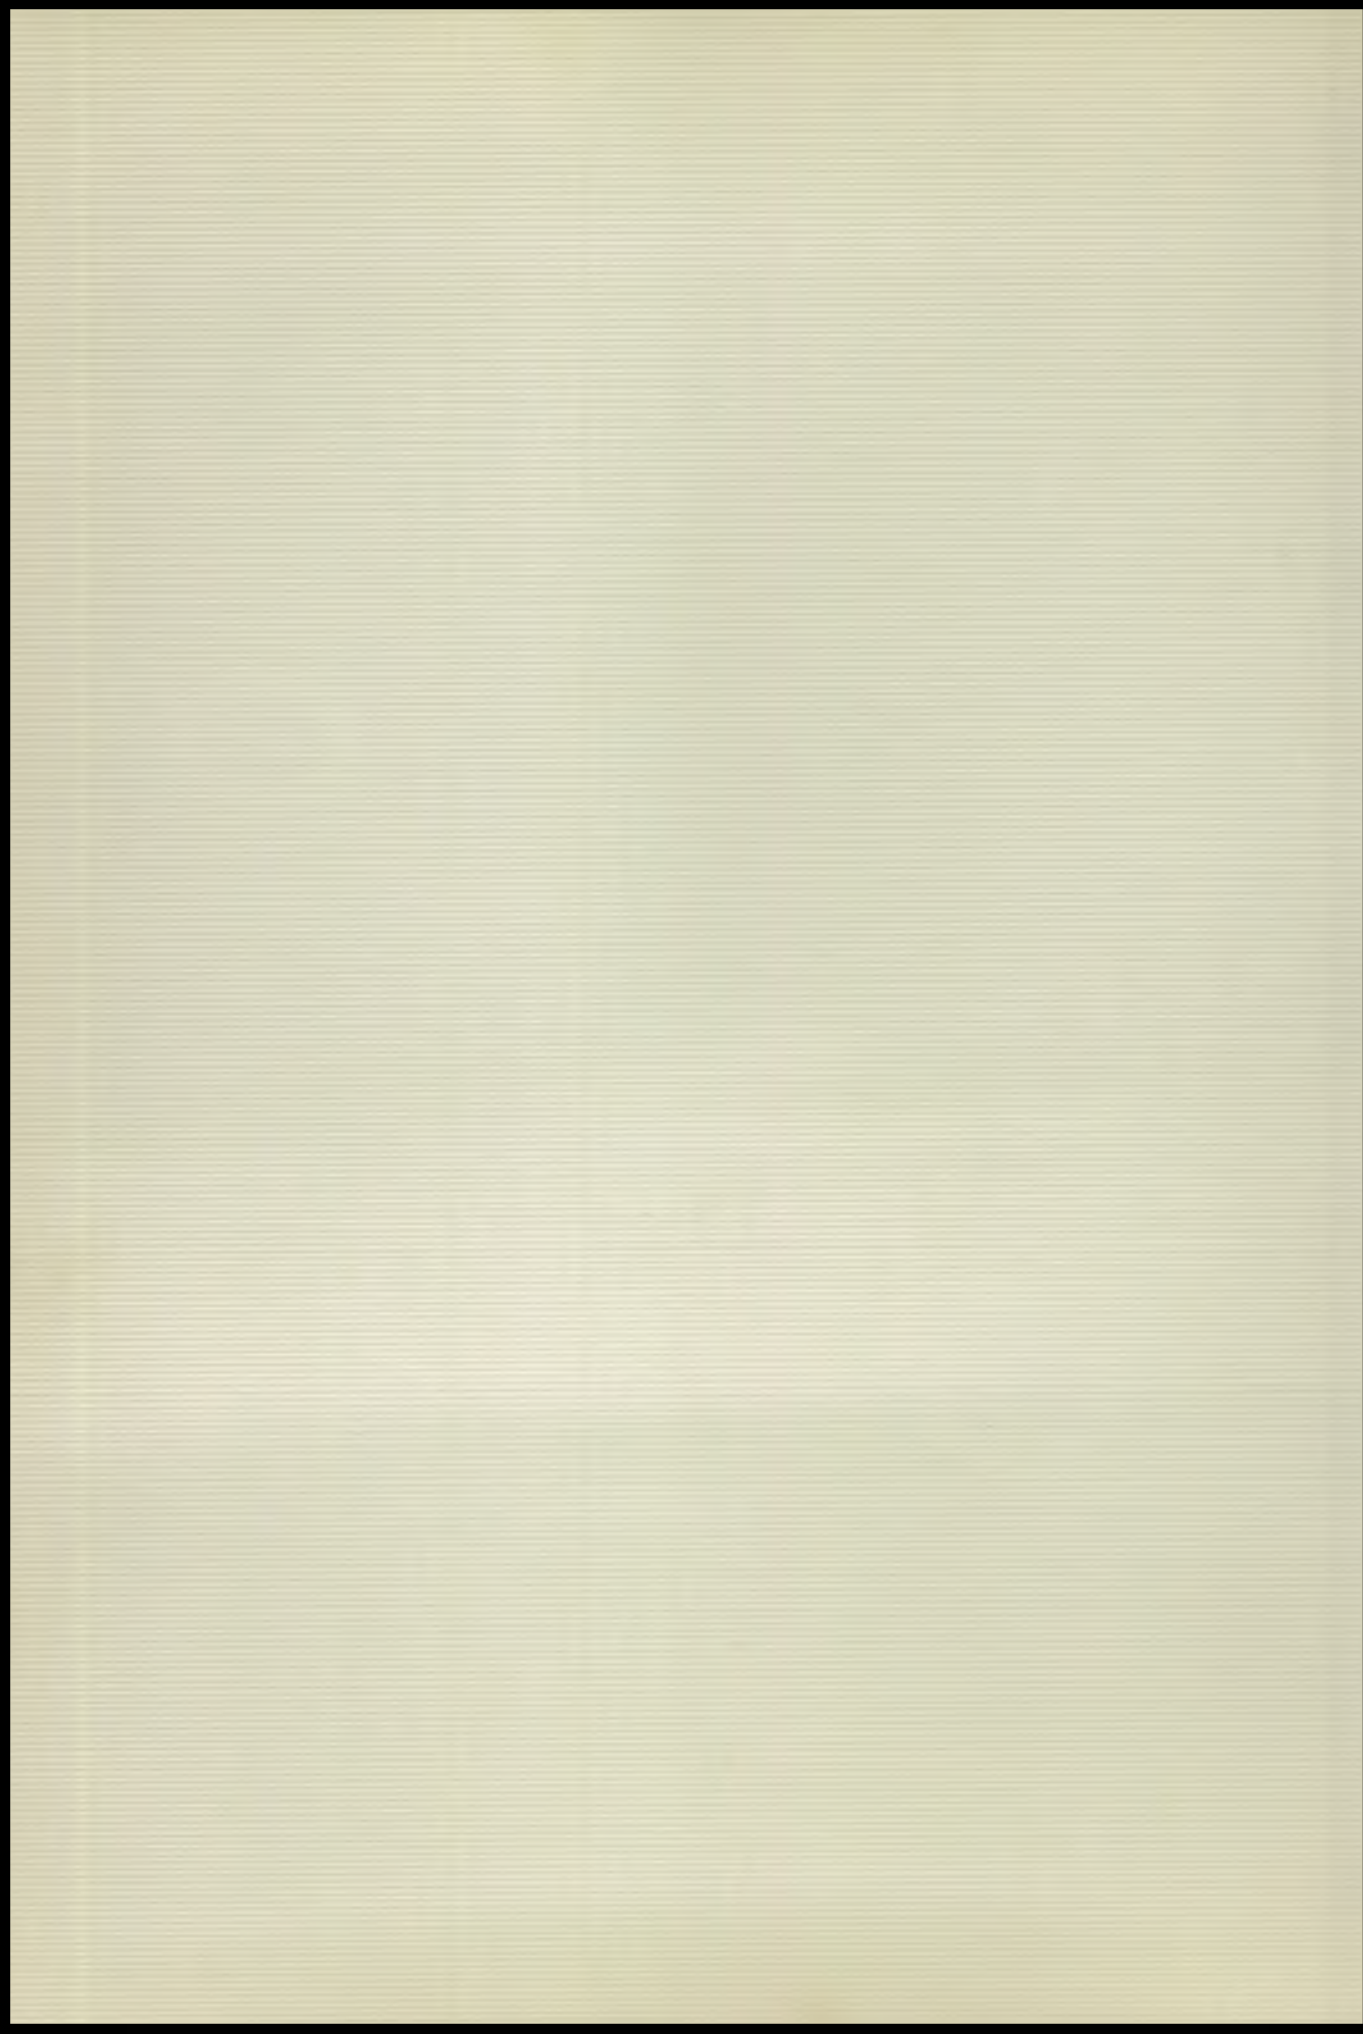

Kenny Williams leaves his seat in the back of the assembly to Harold McCoy.

Joyce Young leaves her dimples to Linda Danielson.

We the Senior Class of 1950 truly hope that the Seniors of 1951 do appreciate and will use the inheritances of unestimatable value which we do leave them.

Therefore, and in witness there of, we, being of sane mind, sound body, and questionable intelligence, do cause the great seal of the graduating class of 1950 to be affixed. Done this first day of April, in the year one thousand nine hundred fifty, in the city of Johnston, county of Polk, state of Iowa.

OVER OUR

SHOULDERS

KINDERGARTEN

In September of '37
Seven little angels came from heaven,
Started to Johnston Kindergarten,
Thirteen years, and now we're partin'.

FIRST:

Dick and Darrel came one day,
Saw Miss George; decided to stay.
Hep and happy was each tot,
Our rythmn band was really hot.

SECOND:

To field and farm went each little dear,
Where Miss Keyte tried to calm our fear
Of mighty cows and charging horses.
Bashful Donna joined our forces.

THIRD:

Came Vernon Schuessler, timid lad,
We almost drove the teacher mad.
Learned division (short and long)
Went to a dairy and the band played on.

FOURTH:

Remember the fourth grade--way back when,
LaVerna was just a little wheel then.
Although devoted to readin' and writin'
We didn't neglect the art of fightin'

FIFTH:

Jack Rothwell came, smart and sassy,
Also Carol, a clever lassy.
We built a castle of salt and flour;
Studied fortress and dungeon and tower.

SIXTH:

We danced the stately minuet,
And Joan joined our saintly set.
We learned of pilgrims and Pocohantas;
Then seventh grade got us, but didn't want us.

SEVENTH:

That year was really an event,
Chuck, Ken, and Johnny came and lent
Their talents to our merry few,
And Norma lent her "talents" too.

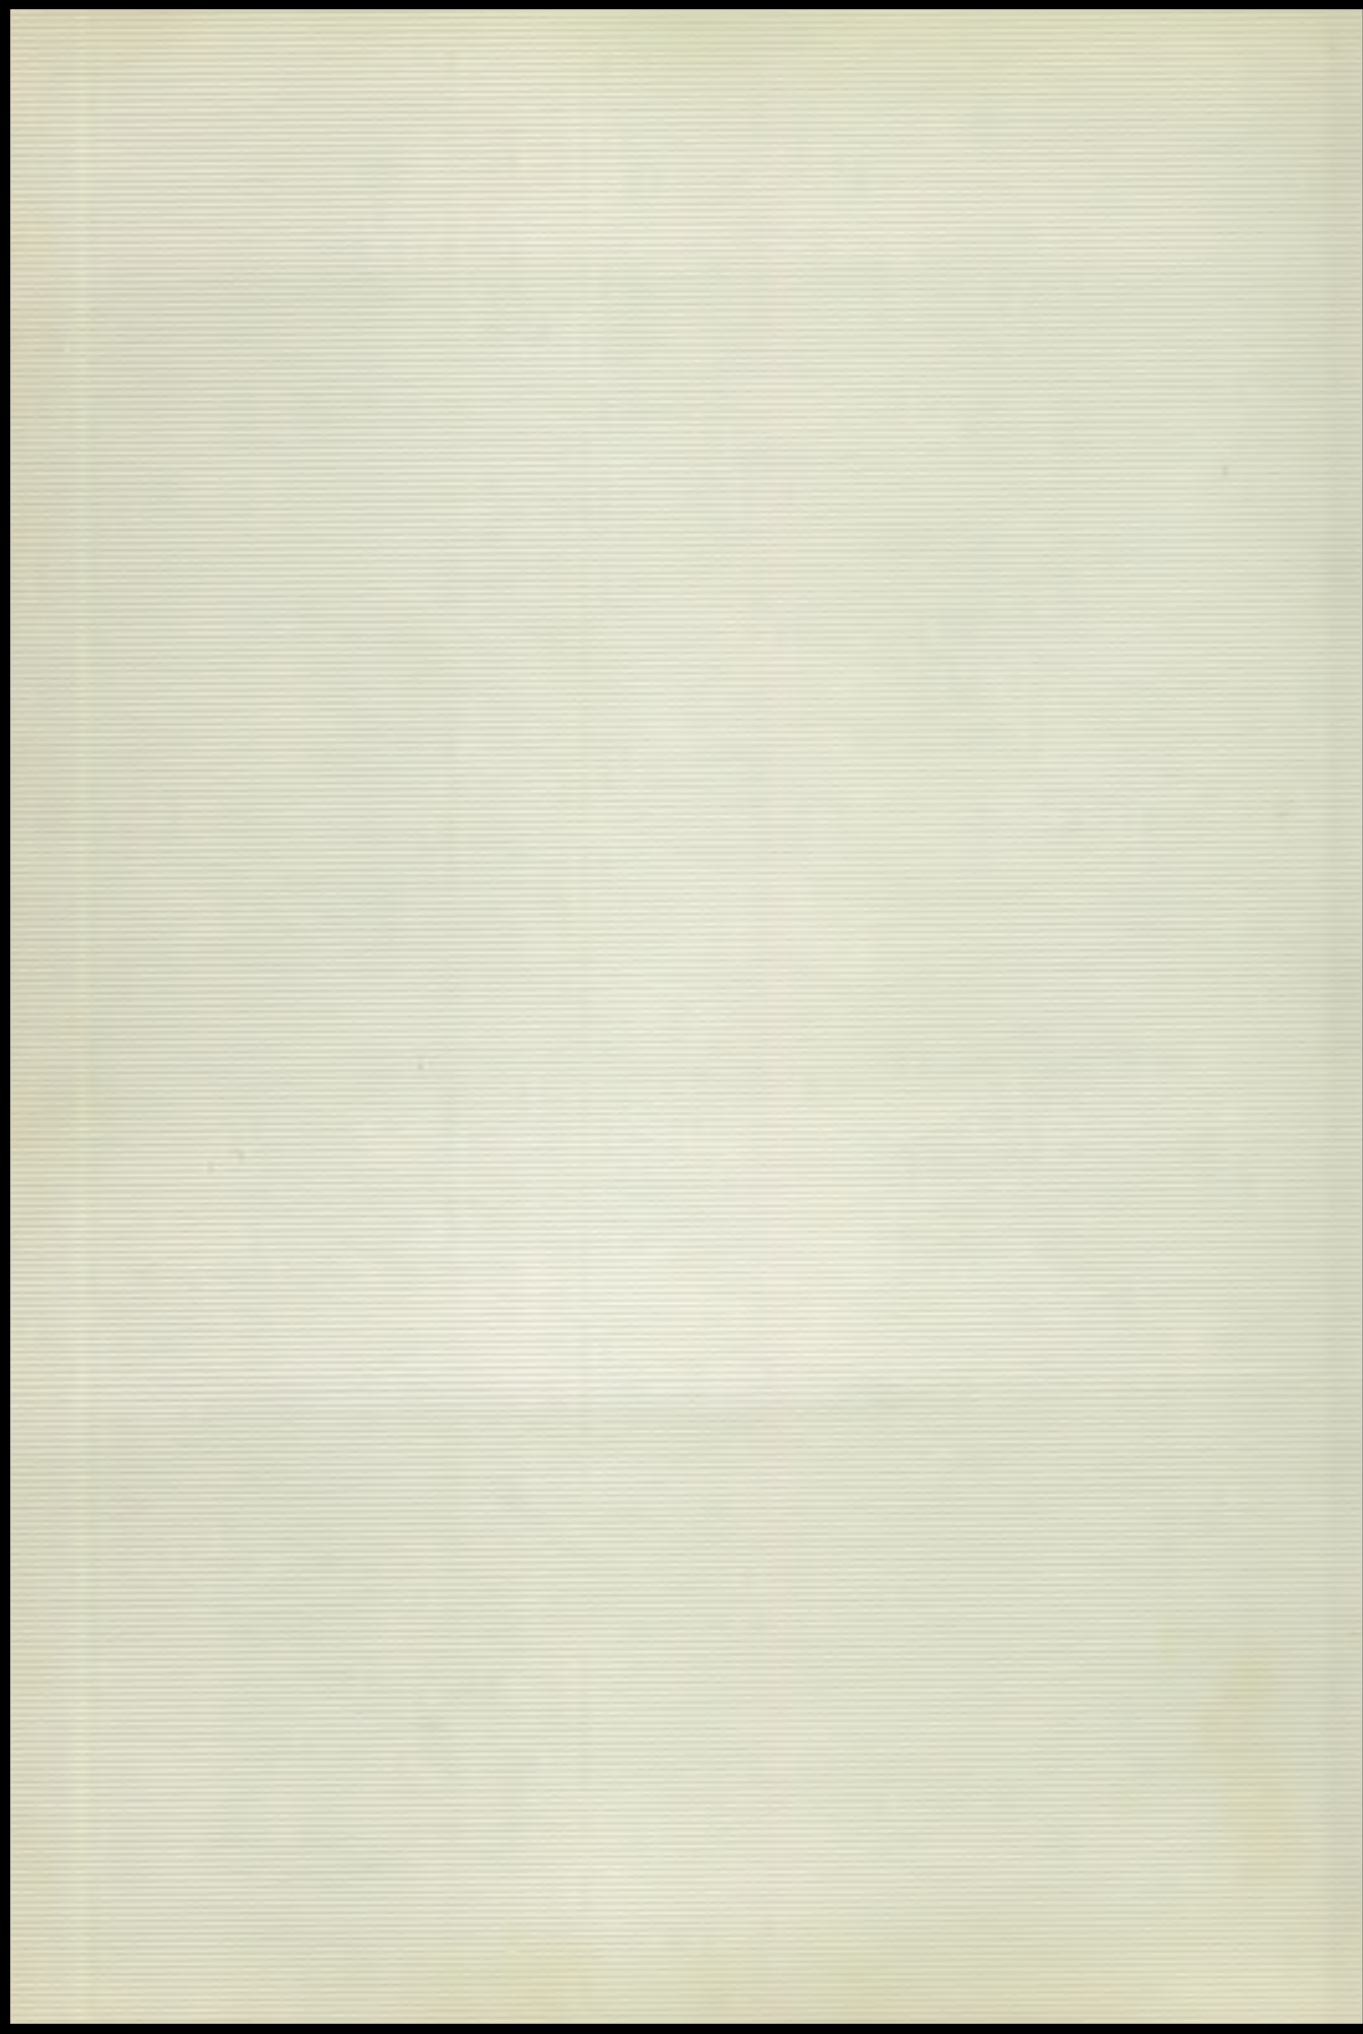

EIGHTH:

High School neared, O Happy Day!
We worked and studied, and then in May
Came time at last for our graduation;
We were destined to be a big sensation.

NINTH:

Big kids then, we thought at first,
Before we came to know the worst in store for our initiations.
Mary and Russell were innovations.

TENTH:

Sophomores finally; on we pressed
To become the leaders of all the rest.
Sponsored a party for good St. Pat
Complete with shamrock and tall green hat.

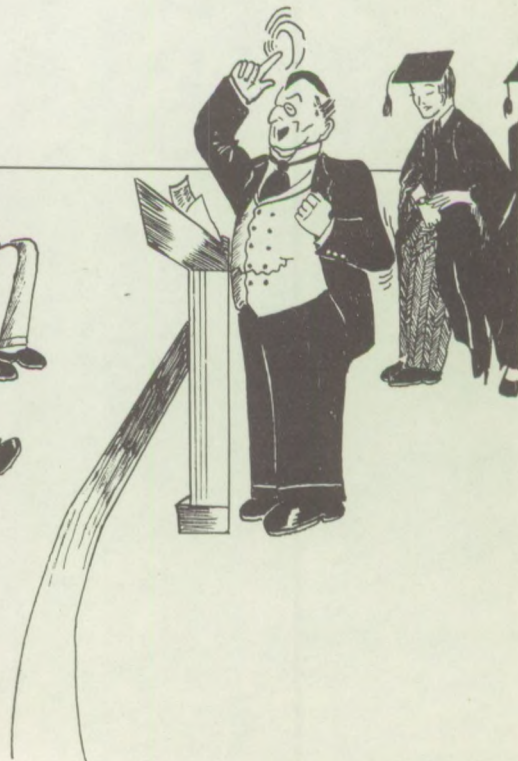

ELEVENTH

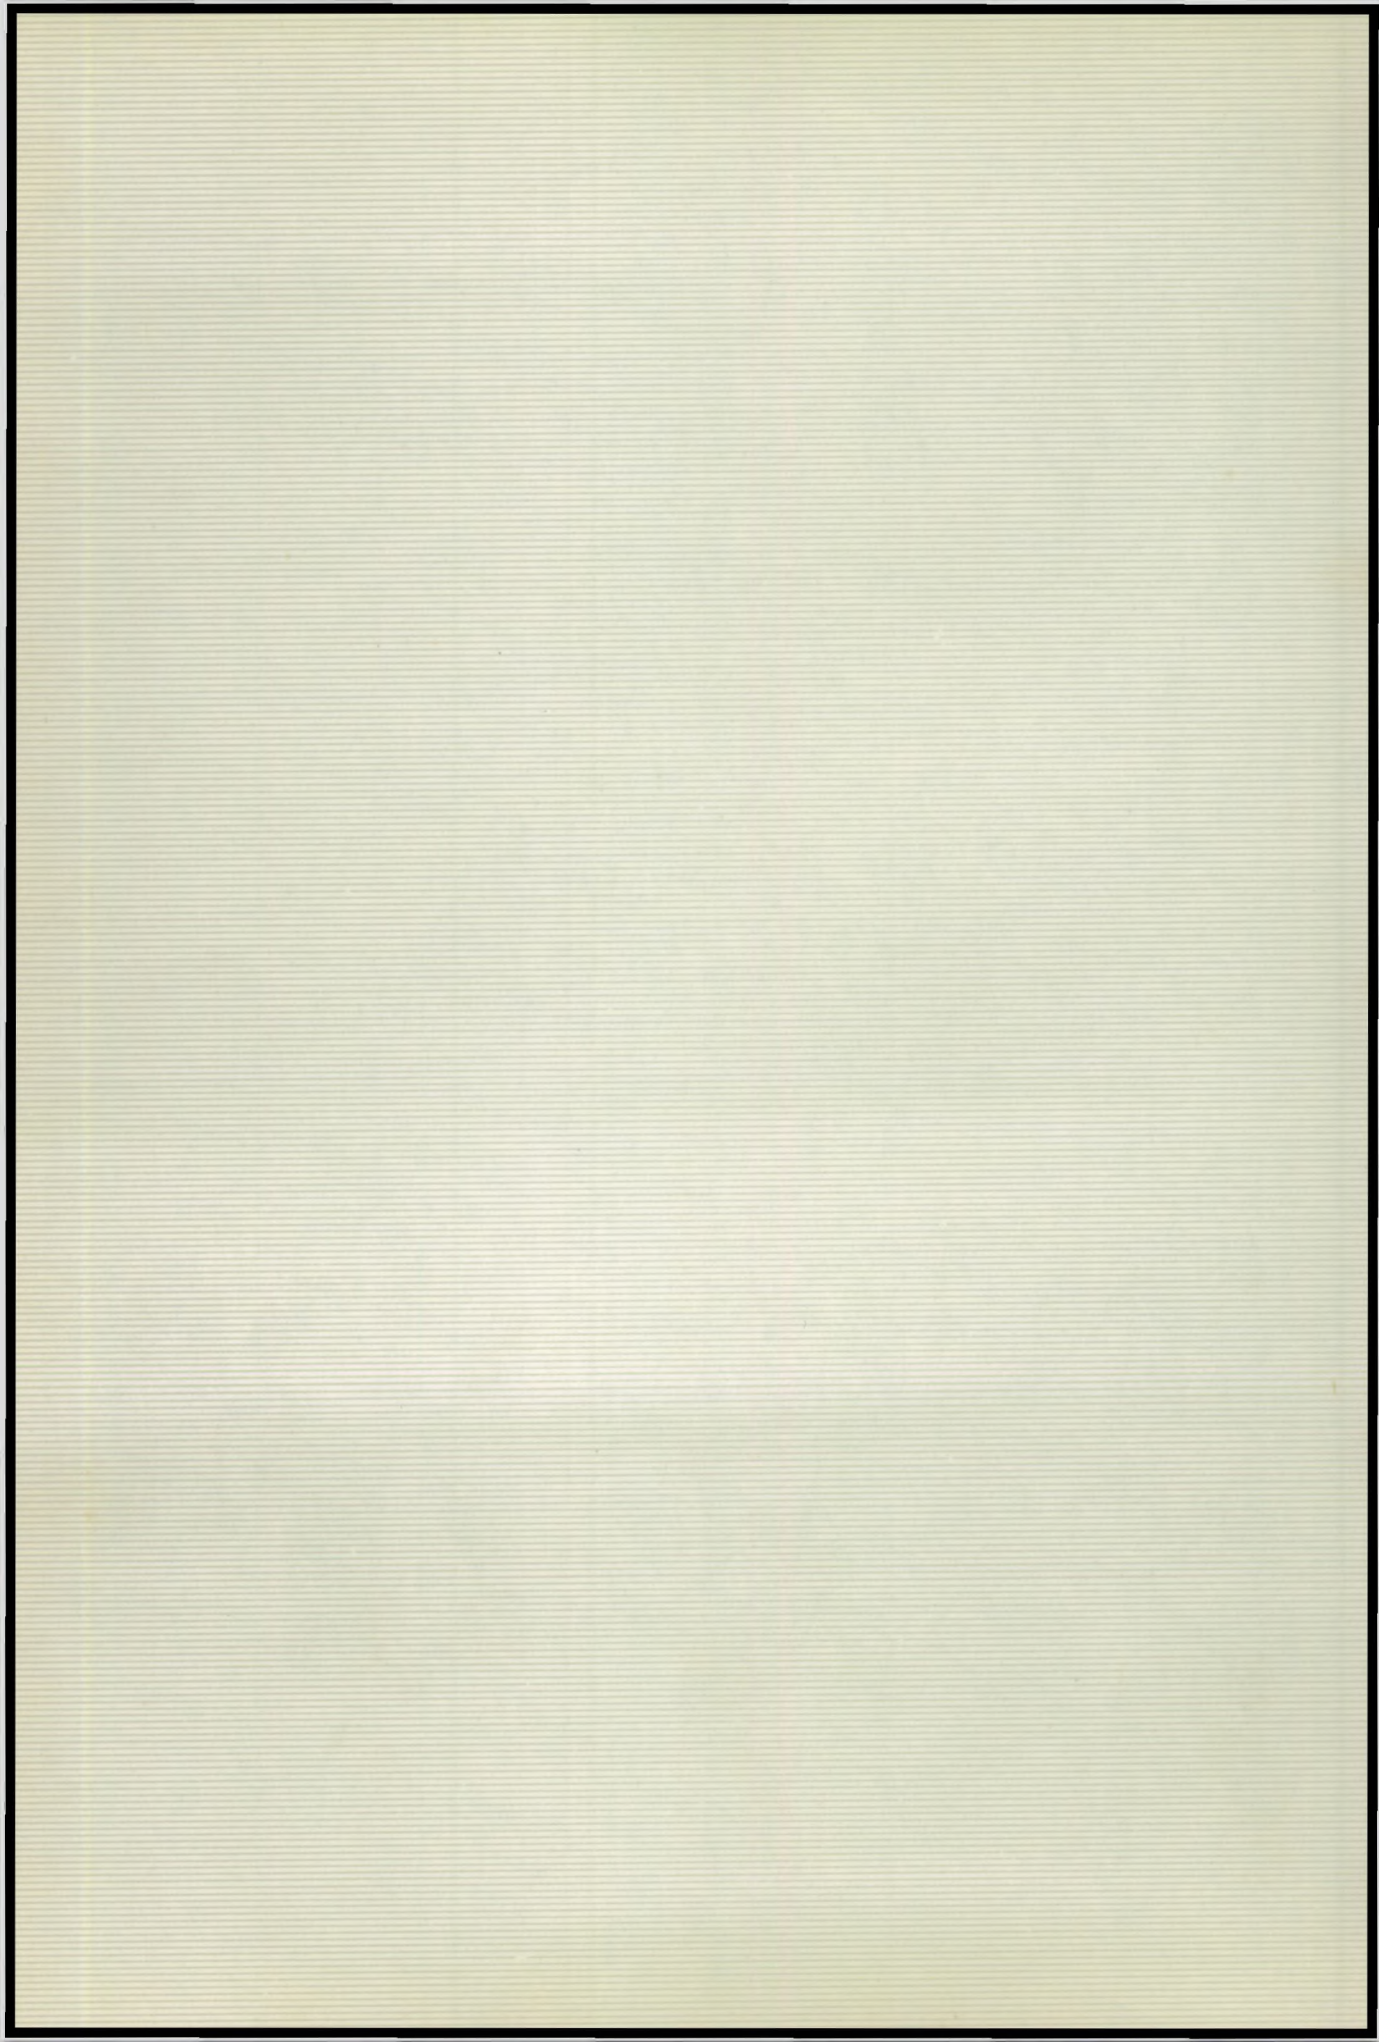

Transformed to Bernhardtts, Barrymores, too,
With our colossal stage revue.
We gave a banquet with Mexican Theme;
To graduate: our fondest dream.

TWELFTH

Dick Hyde came cracking wise--
With little pet sayings 'bout us guys.

To quote the orator of commencement speech,
"The time has come for us to reach
The next rung in life's cruel ladder,
But growing wiser, ever sadder
As we put out on turbulent seas,
Holding in our hands the keys
To fame and fortune, honor and glory."
But we don't go for that old story.
We won't fall for his morbid lore,
We've hear those dire forecasts before.
You see we lost our rosy glasses
When we first entered Senior classes.
We don't expect a silver plate
With a world all free from greed and hate.
But as we leave these cloistered halls,
Expecting knocks and kicks and falls,
Wealth and ease we don't demand,-
Only a chance to understand.

Fantastic Fortunes

Fatima ^{by} the Faker

I'M FATIMA, of FATIMA FORTUNES, INC., "The best in fortunes and misfortunes---special family rates." The finest tea leaves, cards, and crystal balls are at our disposal. If you're interested in the future of the Class of '50, for a reasonable compensation, I can give satisfaction. Now---complete silence, for my crystal ball (my very best, with the marble base) grows cloudy. A date appears briefly--1965!

I see that a large and thriving city has been established on the moon. There we find Rus Slauson who was always interested in the culture of beauty. He is president of a huge company which reprocesses moonbeams, "one teaspoon in your shampoo gives your hair that added luster." He commutes between Earth and Moon on the seven o'clock Space Flyer.

But back to Earth--and what's this? Dick T., known to his colleagues as Dick the Dope. Evidently, he has been hanging around race tracks since graduation, and his last horse just staged a sit-down strike on the track. I fear he has lost his shirt. Success for Dick was just not in the cards, as we say in our trade.

Warren G. was more successful in the sporting world. I see him in his super-sonic 8, on his way to the Yankee Stadium where he will contend in the Interplanetary Series. Not one to forget his old friends, Tubby stops long enough to buy a shirt at McCoy's Fancy Shirt and Cuff Link Emporium, to send to Dick. Patty inherited the Emporium from her third husband, and has done very well.

The scene changes--there is Darrell Stuck whom Einstein took into his confidence. Darrell's mathematical conclusions have astounded scholars and he is now at work on his most important principle, known as "The Theory of Jellativity." It will explain in detail what makes Jello jell.

Gracious! The crystal ball just had a minor convulsion. Why, it's Char Temple, poised on the diving board for the dive that may make her Olympic Champion of 1965. We must leave Charlotte's fate in the hands of the Gods, and move on.

Hmmm--and what may this trim place be! Why, the sign says Monte Carlo, and there's Jack Hauser wearing a tux, 4-inch sideburns, and a blond on each arm. He had a huge stack of money in front of him, but his number just failed to win. The blonds are gone, and Jack is back playing with the band.

The sign says "Radio City Music Hall" and there's Norma Ross, third from the end in the chorus line. Every night, hopeful stage-door Johnnies, with flowers and candy, line up for blocks to see her. But Norma ignores them; she married her childhood sweetheart.

Another '50 grad who made good in music is Joan Lutz, now of Metropolitan Opera. She has been thrilling her audiences with her performance of Carmen, which critics have called "highly unusual." Walter Winchell says that she is in love with her Basso Profundo, but I have my doubts.

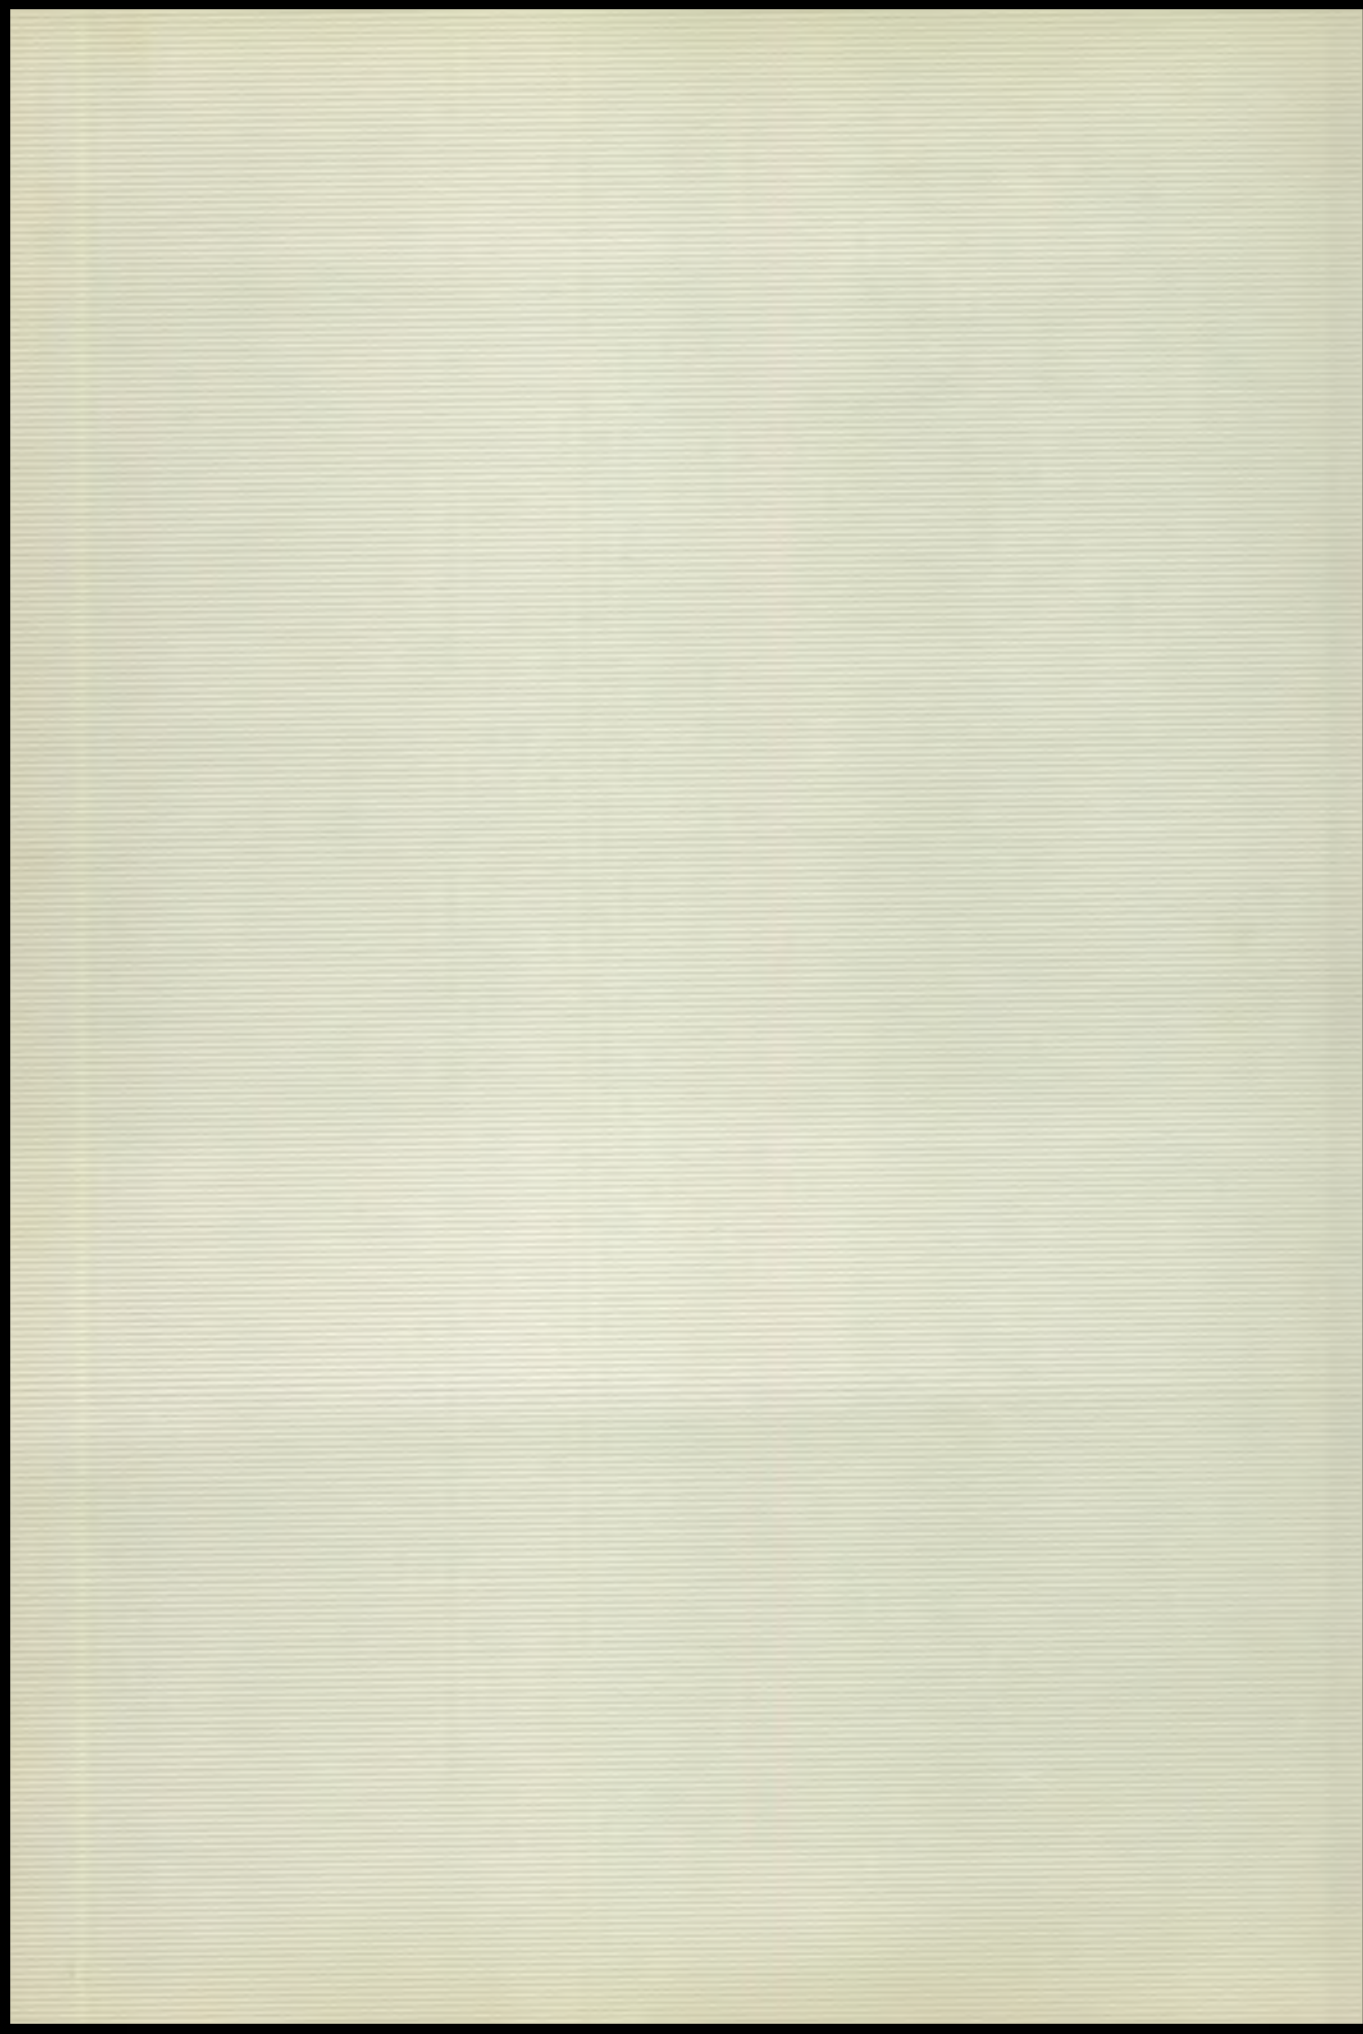

Now, I see Jack R. who gave up Science to enter Radio. Television is old stuff now, and he is working on a project which will enable people to push a button and have the performers in their living rooms, in the flesh. As I watch, I see two men in long white coats coming up behind Jack. What can this mean?

Mary LaMar and Charles H. have formed a comedy team which is a roaring success. Their specialty is Hillbilly renditions. Some nasty people said that they actually came from the back hills, but when Mary started wearing shoes, the rumor stopped.

Donna A. married a prominent Shakespearean actor and appears opposite him frequently. I hear that her interpretation of Juliet is--er--"unforgettable." Donna wants to go back to comedy roles, but her temperamental husband gets violent at the mention of it.

Dick Hyde dwells in the Valley of the Shmoon, apart from all society. He keeps a large kennel of pedigreed Shmoos which are in great demand because of their butter and egg-laying abilities.

I see Vernon Schuessler sitting in a very plushy office. Are those gold stars on his shoulders? It seems that Vernie pursued a military career, and is now using his great influence to become Commander of the WAC'S.

Johnny W. went into politics, and is now running for Governor of Iowa. His platform is sound, and his baby-kissing technique, perfect, so his chances are promising.

Why, there's Richard Stuck, leading a dance band which specializes in one night stands. The band's motto is "If You Get Stuck, Just Call It Luck."

My crystal ball shows a large, peaceful-looking building on a wooded hill. The sign over the entrance says "Idlewild Sanitarium!" Surely, no member of the Class of '50 has come to rest here! But there's Elwood, who thinks he's a beagle hound. He runs around hunting coons every time he escapes his keepers. I see another familiar figure. Can it be LaVerna? I'm afraid it's true, for it seems that Kirk married an eccentric who would let her eat nothing but foods beginning with the letter P. After 6 months of parsnips and pea soup, poor LaVerna's brain snapped.

Joyce Young did not let marriage interfere with her career as a model for Reduc-O Chin Strap Corp. "It firms, molds, and generally disguises as many as three chins."

Kenny Williams, who experienced a remarkable period of growth after graduation, is making stacks for Ringling Brothers Circus as the "Man With His Head in the Clouds." He is 13 feet tall and is still growing spasmodically.

Carol Rittgers pursued a literary career and writes for radio. She has written two serials--a mystery called Behind the Un-ironed Curtain, and a soap opera, Just Plain John's Second Cousin's Other Wife.

That seems to be all--but before you leave, I have some very nice crystal balls on sale today. They're only slightly soiled and are guaranteed for a year. Well--they make nice paper weights.
